At times some children need extra help in school. Children who experience difficulties may fall into one (or more) of four areas:

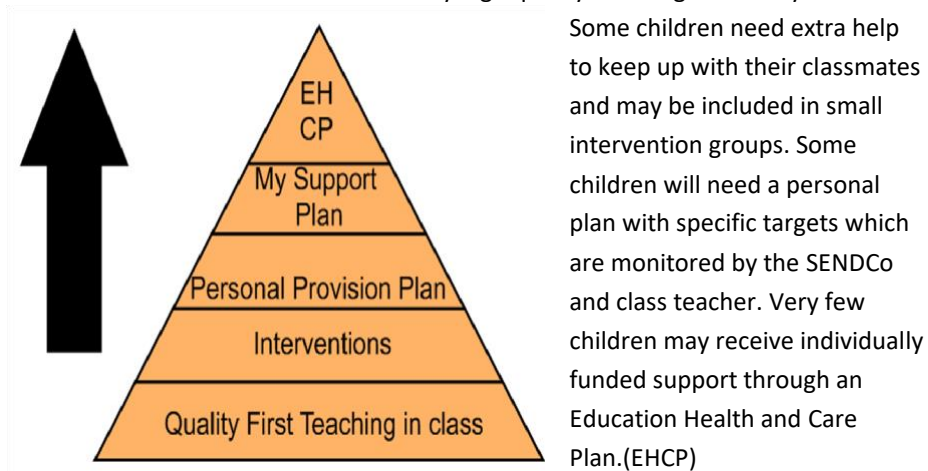

Our staff are trained to use many different approaches to teaching and learning so we can meet every child's needs, including those with SEND. Our SENDCos Mrs Cope and Ms Mills have many years of experience supporting children with SEND and are in school every week supporting staff, children and families.

If you tell us you are worried about your child, talk to us and we will observe them closely working with them to see what may be causing any difficulties. We will share with you what we find out and discuss what we can, in partnership, do next.

Most children's needs will be met by high quality teaching in class by our staff.

Some children need extra help to keep up with their classmates and may be included in small intervention groups. Some children will need a personal plan with specific targets which are monitored by the SENDCo and class teacher. Very few children may receive individually funded support through an Education Health and Care Plan.(EHCP)

If your child is being monitored on the Special Educational Needs Register we will let you know. You can expect to meet your child's class teacher once a term to discuss targets and support, or more often if you would like. If we think another agency could help us to meet your child's needs it will be discussed with you first to ask for your consent for this to progress.

People we already work with:

- Educational Psychologist
- Specialist Teaching Teams for North Yorkshire (Communication and Interaction, Cognition and Learning and Social Emotional and Mental Health)
- NHS Health Services (Speech therapy, occupational therapy and physiotherapy).

Being a parent is a tough job and if your child is struggling in school it can feel overwhelming. If you need someone to talk to your child's class teacher will always be happy to meet with you. If you think you need more support Mrs Sarah Cope and Ms Kirsty Mills, our SENDCos or Mrs Steff Brown (Head teacher) are happy to help.
